ESCAPE MY ROOM PRESENTS: CRESCENT CITY CASES

An online print and play mystery puzzle game

New Orleans, LA: Escape My Room (escapemyroom.com), an award-winning escape room company located in New Orleans has announced a new play at home alternative for puzzle loving customers around the globe. Crescent City Cases (CrescentCityCases.com) is a series of printable, interactive escape games that places players into the role of a newly recruited detective for renowned detective agency Crescent City Cases. Players work with their managing detective to solve a backlog of cold cases surrounding the mysterious and reclusive DeLaporte family. Starting February 7th, all six cases will be available—each with their own missions, storylines, and variety of immersive and entertaining puzzles.

The first case, “The Disappearing Act” is available with a free trial membership and asks players to solve the century old mystery surrounding famed magician Bertram DeLaporte and the disappearances of several of his assistants. Subsequent cases involve an inventor gone mad at the World’s Fair of 1926, a burglary with strange intentions, and an ill-fated round-the-world airplane journey in 1935. Each case is available for $9.95 each, or all are included in a Season Pass membership for $49.95. The Season Pass gives players access to a bonus case that ties each story together into one overarching mystery.

All that is required to play is a computer with access to the internet, paper, pencils and scissors. Access to a printer throughout your gameplay is encouraged, but for those with limited or no access to a printer, printed materials can be shipped to players for an additional $10.
